FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Independent Electrical Contractors Announces 2020 IEC National Award Winners Prestigious Awards Recognize Excellence Across the Breadth of Electrical Contracting

Arlington, VA, November 5, 2020 – Independent Electrical Contractors (IEC) is pleased to announce the winners of its prestigious 2020 IEC National Awards. Presented during The Virtual IEC Convention & Expo on October 30, 2020, the awards recognize excellence across the full breadth of IEC member constituencies, including Excellence in Electrical Construction, individual achievement, distinction at the chapter level, industry and community achievement, recognition as an emerging leader in the electrical industry, excellence in safety awareness and protocols, and the annual Apprentice of the Year Competition.

IEC is especially proud of the excellent work of our award winners and nominees in 2020. Our members have exhibited strength and resolve during the COVID-19 pandemic and have devised and employed innovative methods to keep their businesses and the electrical industry moving forward against the obstacles this year has presented.

The 2020 IEC National Award submissions were judged by an esteemed panel of leaders within the electrical industry and include: Excellence in Construction Awards: Jane Allred, Jack Brown, Barry Eikmann, David Hittinger, Jim MacMurdo, Allan Matsuo. Chapter & Individual Awards: Kristen Baldwin, Bryan Beckett, Bradley Borchers, Steve Denier, Pete Farreny, Todd Hawkins, Bret Martin, Jon Martin, Sherri Puckett, Nick Schuler, Barbara Tipton. CNA Safety Awards: Raffi Elchemmas, Harvey Hammock, Randy Mansell, Jack Otting, Steve Richardson, and Jeff Wolfla

Additional information about all of the 2020 IEC National Award winners is available in the November/December issue of IEC Insights magazine, on the IEC National website, and by request from Laurie Enceneat, Senior Director of Marketing & Communications, IEC.
